About Nanyang Technological University | Nanyang Technological University (NTU) is an established international institution in tertiary education.

Our university has a distinguished lineage with roots that go back to 1955. We began as Nanyang University, a private university set up with donations from people of all walks of life, from Singapore and the region. The university grounds, Yunnan Garden Campus, was donated by the Hokkien Clan Association as part of this campaign.

We were reborn as Nanyang Technological Institute, established on the same campus in 1981 with government funding to educate practice-oriented engineers for the burgeoning Singapore economy. In 1991 we became Nanyang Technological University with the absorption of the National Institute of Education.

Today, we are a research-intensive university ranked among the top 50 universities in the world. We have a strong engineering college ranked among the best globally, a business school one of the top 100 MBA programmes in the world, an internationally acclaimed National Institute of Education, one of the best communication and information schools in Asia, and a biological sciences school at the forefront of Singapore's life sciences initiative.

A traditional strength of the university is the high employment rate and high remuneration received by its graduates. In particular, the Nanyang Business School at NTU has almost 40 years of experience in educating business leaders for the region. With a strong international faculty and innovative curricula and teaching methods, we are the only business school in Singapore and just the third in Asia to have both the EQUIS and AACSB accreditation. In 2005, the Economist Intelligence Unit ranked us among Asia's top 5 Business Schools. All this is a result of the very high quality of the programmes and the rich experience that we provide.
